Description

A nicely proportioned walnut ting tang bracket clock. It has a solid carved walnut and matched walnut veneer case, in the style of a late 17th Century bracket clock. It has a angled top, a carved door with a thick bevel edge glass and a stepped base. The brass dial has an engraved, silvered chapter ring and cherub spandrels. The 8 day ting tang movement sounds each 1/4 on two gongs and a single gong on the hour. This clock was made by the well respected German makers Lenzkirch and is numbered 989361 and dates to 1893 according to Lenzkirch serial numbering.
